01 PROFILE

I like standing between a client and the people who build for them. I start by looking and listening, and I give an idea the time it needs before anything gets made. Good ideas usually come out of conversation, between people, and between the world as it is and the one we imagine. Once the client and the team know what they're aiming for, everyone can bring their own part. I work with care and keep learning from the people around me. One day I want to run a project from A to Z myself, from the first talk with a client to the finished product.

02 EXPERIENCE

2025–2026

Sabbatical year, travel & learning

- Built my portfolio site with Claude Code and put it online through GitHub and Vercel
- Set up AI agents in Claude that mail me new vacancies, concerts and other daily updates
- Working on my own online radio station with a retro 3D player made in Blender/Claude and a live chat, launch coming soon
- Building the radio with Claude Code, AzuraCast for the stream and Supabase as backend, based on the code of old Neocities sites
- Learning Figma

2023–2025

Student job, kitchen helper
Bouf's restaurant, Tervuren

- Prepared and plated dishes in a small team, on both the hot and the cold side
- Trained new team members so they could quickly keep up with the kitchen during busy services

2024

Intern, marketing, research & client presentations
OneBonsai, Leuven

- Ran a cold mail campaign to 100+ organisations: 27 hot leads
- Made a competitor analysis of VR training companies in Excel
- Represented OneBonsai at Natural Disasters Expo Europe in Frankfurt and joined client meetings at Deloitte and the Evere police zone
- Audited the company website and turned the findings into a brief for the developers

2023

Intern, communication & youth coaching
Make It Work

- Learned to lead coaching conversations with young people
- Made flyers and a data visualisation and helped run team brainstorms

2019–2022

Leader, youth coordination & project organisation
Scouts en Gidsen Tervuren

- Planned activities with a team of leaders, divided tasks and kept deadlines
